AudienceScapes Fellows Program

The AudienceScapes Fellows contribute online reports from a number of countries about notable information, communication and media trends.

Chief K. Masimba Biriwasha
The author is a journalist from Zimbabwe with an extensive background in development and communication policy. He blogs at http://ziviso.wordpress.com/

Recent Articles by Masimba
Mobile Money Arrives in Zimbabwe [1]
Mobile Grows Big in Zimbabwe [2]
Bandwidth Price Projected to Drop in Zimbabwe [3]
Social Media in Zimbabwe: Not Enough for Democracy [4]
Newspaper Sector Grows, Political Spectrum Still Narrow [5]

Tawanda Karombo
Tawanda Karombo is a freelance journalist living in Zimbabwe. He has had experience with Financial, Business and Communication Reporting. He has previously written for The Financial Gazette (Business and Financial Weekly in Zimbabwe), MoneyWeb (South African Investment and Financial web publication) and The Zimbabwe Gazette (Online news publication about Zimbabwe) among others.

Recent Articles by Tawanda
Company Launches Free SMS Service in Zimbabwe
Zimbabwe Telecom Companies Unwilling to Share Infrastructure [6]
Zimbabwe Media Update: Print Gets More Players, but Airwaves Still Shut [7]
Young Journalists Denounce Corruption in Zimbabwe [8]
Civil Society Groups Condemn Zimbabwe’s Stranglehold on Broadcasting [9]
Zimbabwe Media Professionals Lament Sliding Standards [10]
Mugabe Told to Reform Media Before Holding Elections [11]
Newly Licensed, Zimbabwe’s Newspapers Struggle to Operate [12]
Another Link in Zimbabwe’s Communication Backbone [13]
Zimbabwe Invests in Fiber Optic Project [14]
Competing for Zimbabwe's Broadband Market [16]
Opening of Airwaves Stalled in Zimbabwe [17]
Community Radio Standing By in Zimbabwe [18]
Zimbabwe's Parliament Goes Digital [19]
What Will Per-Second Billing Mean for Zimbabwe? [20]
Broadband Comes to Zimbabwe's Smaller Cities [21]
Big Boost for Zimbabwe’s Mobile Network [22]
Texting Students About HIV Prevention [23]
Zimbabwe Licenses Four More Publications; Media Groups Urge Broadcast Openings [24]
Zimbabwe: Mugabe Tries to Retain Grip On Media [25]
SIM Card Registration Continues Apace in Africa [26]
Zimbabwe: Audio News Service Bridges the Information Gap [27]
Zimbabwe: Government to Sell Telecoms Company NetOne [28]
Zimbabwe: New Dailies Launch, Usher in New Era for Print Media [29]
Zimbabwe ICT Bill Raises Hopes, Despite Governmental Risks [30]
Is Zimbabwe’s Media Sector Poised for a Renaissance? We'll Know In July [31]

Sushmita Malviya is a researcher and writer based in India

Recent Articles
India's Media at a Crossroads [33]
India Community Radio: Special Report [34]
Text Messages to Boost Immunization [35]
[36]
Dinfin Mulupi is a business journalist based in Nairobi, Kenya. She is currently the East Africa corresp for an online business paper based in Cape Town in South Africa.

Recent Articles by Dinfin

Kenya's Female Entrepreneurs Make Their Digital Mark [38]
Beyond Nairobi: A Magazine for the Rest of Kenya [38]
Kenya: Taking Mobile Money a Step Further [39]
Learning By Computer in Rural Kenya [40]
Amid Kenya's Food Crisis, Radio Educates Farmers [41]

Kenya: Citizen Watchdogs Go Online [42]
Challenging Kenya's Powerful through Satire [43]
Kibera Citizens Turn Reporters [44]
Putting Kibera on the Map [45]
Using SMS To Fight Disease in Africa [46]
Radio for Peace Ahead of Sudan's Referendum [47]
From Pilot to Franchise: Esoko Arms Farmers with Information [48]
Kenya's Popular TV Drama Engages Viewers [49]
New Mobile Platform Helps Refugees United Reach Thousands [50]
M-Pesa Helps Farmers Get Insurance Claims [51]
Computing Centers Sprout in Rural Kenya [52]
A Voice for Peace in a Tense Sudan [53]
Ushahidi: Born in Kenya, Traveling the World [54]
Talking Trash in Kenya [55]
Bridging Kenya's Digital Gender Divide [56]
New Tools for Family Planning [57]
Kenyan Government Slashes Mobile Fees [58]
Kenya's Courts in High Def [59]
New Era for Kenya's State Broadcaster? [60]
Kenya: Computer Skills As Life Skills [61]
Kibera Youth Behind the Camera [62]
Kenya's Referendum Shaped By Technology [63]
SIM Card Registration Continues Apace in Africa [64]
Kenya's Royal Media Services Group Rides Vernacular Radio Growth [65]

Copyright 2010, InterMedia. All rights reserved.
Paromita Pain has been employed with The Hindu Newspaper, Chennai, India since January 2003. She writes for young people on a range of themes, with a special interest in media for young people, health issues, human rights and youth in situations of conflict. She can be reached at paromita.pain@gmail.com.

Recent Articles by Paromita

Health eVillages brings the doctor's office to medically scarce areas through mobile device
SMS Based Medic Mobile Helps Bridge Healthcare Communication Gap
A Mobile Platform for HIV/AIDS Education
Heroes in Juarez: Citizens Challenge a City's Reputation
Citizen Video Producers Changing Indian Media
Radio Show on HIV and Discrimination Brings Hope for Nepali Women
Youth Ki Awaaz: A Mouthpiece for India's Youth
Radio Promotes Dialogue and Accountability
The Muppets Take Bangladesh
Mobile Chat Service for HIV/AIDS
Una Voz For Low Wage Workers
Boosting India's Community Health Workers
A Campaign to Educate All of India's Children
Indian Soap Opera Takes On HIV/AIDS
Radio That Resonates in Senegal
Malaysia's Youth Unite to Save the Planet
A Free Press for Iraqi Students
Citizen Journalism Only A Phone Call Away
Community Radio Informs and Inspires in India
Newspaper For Women, By Women in India
Blogging To Heal the Wounds of Conflict
Young Indian Women Ride WAVE to Free Expression
India's Newspapers Provide Outlets for Young Voices
Sonya Rehman, a Pakistani journalist, has been writing for over six years. A Fulbright Scholar, Sonya returned to her birth city, Lahore, in 2010, after completing an MS in Journalism at Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism. She currently works as a freelance journalist for local and international publications.

Recent Articles by Sonya
- Citizen Journalism Grows in Pakistan
- Pakistan: Diagnosis from a Distance
- 'Gawaahi'- A Portal for Pakistani Stories
- Media Faces Perils and Possibilities in Pakistan
- Web Television Launches in Pakistan
- Pakistan: Facebook and the Monsoon Flood
- Pakistan: Citizen Journalism Takes Hold
- Sesame Street Comes to Pakistan

Jeremiah Sam & Kwami Ahiabenu II both work at penplusbytes.org

Recent Articles
- Beyond the Bank : The Rise of Mobile Money in Ghana
- Texts a New Tool in Guinea’s Historic Election
- Nurturing Media in West Africa
- Ghana - Modest Growth in Community Radio May Accelerate Soon
- Youth Media Culture Takes Shape in Ghana
- Ghana's Competitive Mobile Market Spurs Multiple Apps
Bai-Bai Sesay is an independent journalist from Sierra Leone, who has written for the Independent Observer Press, the Legacy Magazine, Panos and Africa News Online.

Recent Articles by Bai Bai
Connecting Rural Sierra Leone
Crackdown on Unregistered SIM Cards
A Green Light for Fiber Optic
Sierra Leone: Giving Telecom Consumers a Voice
Upgrading Sierra Leone's ICT: Competition and Fiber Optics
SIM Card Registration Continues Apace in Africa
Will Sierra Leone's SLBC Fulfill Its Public Mission?
Optimism for Sierra Leone Mobile Market Blooms but Difficulties Remain
Sierra Leone: Community Radio Is Widespread, But For How Long?

Joseph Were is the associate editor of The Independent weekly in Uganda.

Recent Articles by Joseph
SMS Project in Uganda Shows Malaria Knowledge Exists, Action Lacking
Uganda: Mobile Applications for Development Poised for Growth
Ugandan Blogosphere Spans Globe - But How Many Ugandans Are Reading?
New Media's Power Emerges in Uganda, but Mainly Among Affluent Urbanites
Uganda's Community Radio Stations Walk Political Tightrope
Newton Sibanda has been a journalist for 17 years. Currently, he is working for the Zambia Daily Mail as Weekend Mail Editor and environmental columnist. Sibanda's areas of interest include ICTs, the environment, energy, health, human rights, and water and sanitation. Sibanda also writes for IPS, Panos Features, Ooskanews and the NORAD development newspaper Bistandsakuelt.

Recent Articles by Newton
ICTs Help Africans Cope with Climate Change [120]
SMS Delays Delay in HIV Testing [122]
Zambia Uses Zain SMS to Fight Measles [123]
To Market, To Market By Mobile Phone [124]

César Caballero
Recent Articles
As Mobile Phones Take Over, Colombians Discover “Real Time” While Regulators Face Challenges [125]

Intermedia Staff Contributions

Peter Goldstein, Project Director, AudienceScapes Project

Recent Blogs
Mobile Apps and Development: Getting from Pilot to Scale [126]
Do Aid Donors Have A Role in Mobile Money? [127]
Zambia: Mobile Vouchers for Development [128]
UN Radio: Is There Life After Peacekeeping? [129]

Hannah Bowen, Research Analyst and Project Manager
Recent Blogs
Is There a Media Divide Between Mideast Tremors and Sub-Saharan Africa? [130]
Elections, Mobile Phones and the Traditional Media [131]
Development Organizations and Journalists: Tips for Getting Along [132]
The Role of Gender in Media Consumption and Access to Health Services [133]
Media’s Role in Civic Education [134]
“Open Government”: Open to Whom? [135]
Information for Development Policy: Famine or Flood? [136]

David Montez, Research Analyst
Recent Blogs:
Audiencescapes Provides Early Glimpse Of Haiti's Mobile Money Era [137]
M-Money in Tanzania: Is It reaching the Poor? [138]
Why Communication is Important: Achieving the MDGs [139]
The Role of Media in Humanitarian Crises: Potential Lessons from Haiti [140]
“Shifting Sands” or Just Thick Mud?: Satellite TV in the Middle East [141]
Just How Digital Are We? - The Case of Africa [142]

Gayatri Murthy, Research Assistant, AudienceScapes Project
Recent Blogs:
Whither Democracy/Wither Democracy: The Rise of Internet Censorship in India [143]
Which Came First: the ICT or Collective Action? [144]
New Wireless Pill Phone Study in US has implications for M-Health Globally [145]
Beyond a Free Media: Defining Media Challenges in Pakistan [146]
Analyzing the Pakistan Ban On BBC Radio Services [147]
India's IT Sector- Caught Between Social Innovation And Government Surveillance [148]

Alexandra Walker, Editor, AudienceScapes Project
Recent Blogs:
African Voices on Why ICT4Ds Fail [149]
Mobile Apps: Lessons from Failures and Success Stories [150]

Myriam Benlamlih, Project Manager
Recent Blogs:
Ice Cream and ICTs in Istanbul [151]

Giovanna Monteverde, Project Manager
Recent Blogs:
In Colombia, Street Vendors Hawk Candy, Cigarettes…and Mobile Minutes [152]
Chatting with Tcho Tcho: A Visit to Haiti [153]

Nathaniel Kretchun, Project Manager
Recent Blogs:
A Tale of Two Koreas [154]

Lyuda Andriyevska, Project Manager
Recent Blogs:
Is Ukrainian Television Returning to Its Past? [155]

[156]Diana Turecek, MENA Regional Research Manager
Recent Blogs:
The Tunisian "Domino Effect" and the Role of Media [156]
Morocco: Crackdown on Popular Newspaper Al Massae [157]

Andrea Marmolejo, Board Member, InterMedia UK

What Happens If? Serious Games & Their Evaluation [158]
http://www.audiencescapes.org/big-boost-zimbabwe%E2%80%99s-mobile-network-568 http://www.audiencescapes.org/zimbabwe-licenses-four-more-publications-media-groups-urge-broad-cast-opening-556 http://www.audiencescapes.org/zimbabwe-audio-news-service-bridges-information-gap-515 http://www.audiencescapes.org/zimbawes-media-sector-poised-renaissance-well-know-july-474 http://www.audiencescapes.org/india-text-messages-boost-immunization-555 http://www.audiencescapes.org/zimbabwe-print-newspapers-independent-private-new-trend-licenses-dailies-media-communication http://www.audiencescapes.org/sites/default/files/Dinfin%20Mulupi_Kenya_1.JPG http://www.audiencescapes.org/putting-kibera-map-kenya-OpenStreetMap-AMREF-Plan-International pilot-franchise-esoko-arms-farme
[67] mailto:paromita.pain@gmail.com
[78]
http://www.audiencescapes.org/resources/field-blog/radio-resonates-senegal/radio-resonates-senegal [80]
http://www.audiencescapes.org/resources/field-blog/malaysia%E2%80%99s-youth-unite-save-planet/malaysia%E2%80%99s-youth-unite-save-planet-585 [84]
http://www.audiencescapes.org/resources/field-blog/newspaper-women-women-india/newspaper-women-women-india-549
[89]
[92]
dtv-web-based-content-flood-relief-work
[94]
[97]
http://www.audiencescapes.org/resources/field-blog/sesame-street-going-global/sesame-street-going-global-635 [99]
http://www.audiencescapes.org/resources/field-blog/beyond-bank-rise-mobile-money-ghana/beyond-bank-rise-mobile-money-ghana-599
[102]
[104]
http://www.audiencescapes.org/ghana%E2%80%99s-competitive-mobile-market-spurs-multiple-apps-203 [105]
ter-center [106]
bali-ict-ufdf-UN-development-goals-moses-lahai-masapaki-kobombok